MELANGE OF NON NEOPLASTIC PATHOLOGY

Department of Pathology

October 27th & 28th, 2017

Venue: Auditorium, PSGIMS&R

Greetings from PSGIMS & R, Coimbatore!

Surgical pathology is a largely independent and demanding discipline, requiring high and ever increasing levels of expert knowledge. Most of the recent conferences address malignant lesions. Refresher courses and CMEs addressing non neoplastic lesions have become a rarity. This conference aims to address this gap.

Non neoplastic lesions encompass a very broad assortment of tissue alterations including congenital, degenerative, inflammatory, adaptive, and reparative changes posing a challenge to the pathologists. Minimalistic procedures like guided core biopsies have made the diagnosis of non neoplastic lesions even more challenging. To address these difficulties in day- to-day practice, this CME focuses on non neoplastic lesions in various organ systems with the help of experts in the respective fields from reputed institutions across the country.
