

Poster Session

Abstracts are invited for parallel poster sessions on any aspect of medical diseases of native and grafted kidney. Original research, interesting case reports, new technology etc are encouraged by IS RTP and this has been a regular feature. IS RTP CON 2018 also invites post graduates, scientists and faculty to participate and showcase their work or achievement in the poster session.

Only registered delegates can submit or present abstracts. One abstract per delegate limited to 300 words.

Format: Title, Authors with affiliation

Structured Abstract: Background/ Objectives/ Result/ Conclusion

For Case series: Background/ Case report/ Conclusion

Mail your abstract with "IS RTP CON Poster submission" in the subject line, to: isrtponkol2018@gmail.com with a copy to seethalekshmy@aims.amrita.edu and vanikararuna@yahoo.com

Deadline for Abstract Submission: 30th June 2018 with proof of conference registration.

*(Prizes for the best papers will be announced on the last day of conference. The awarded papers should also be presented.)

Academic Beneficiaries

There has been a palpable change in approach to the post graduate training to have an area of expertise/ specialisation along with the routine histopathology diagnostics.

Nephropathology has of late been a craze among the budding post graduates. Many centres offer Post Doctoral Certificate Courses in Nephropathology because of the increasing demand in the private sector and corporate hospitals for specialised pathologists.

The conference is targeted for the practising pathologists and histopathologists in private sector, corporate hospitals, government hospitals, medical colleges as well as budding post graduate residents/ students/ trainees pursuing their MD degree who have a special interest in Nephropathology. Attending delegates will definitely be benefited by the various scientific deliberations and interactions with the renowned speakers. This shall help in better diagnosis and patient care.

INTRODUCTION

The knowledge and information in diagnostic pathology is expanding at a rapid pace. Basic research and use of advanced software technology has bridged the gap between “Bench top” research and bedside application.

Nephropathology, like all other branches of diagnostic pathology is also experiencing a paradigm shift from “pattern” or morphology to aetiopathogenesis, which helps in better patient management. It is difficult for the standalone pathologist or the busy nephropathologist in medical colleges, academic institutions and corporate hospitals to keep pace with the “knowledge explosion” and emerging concepts.

Indian society of renal and transplantation pathology (IS RTP) has been Organizing CMEs annually to update the general and specialized pathologists in India and neighbouring countries about the recent advances in the field of renal pathology.

The 13th Annual conference of IS RTP shall be held in Kolkata between 17th to 19th August 2018 - IS RTP CON 2018. The conference shall focus on the recent changes in the approach to diagnose medical diseases of native kidney as well as the grafted kidney. The CME also promises to give an international flavour by the presence of internationally renowned expert nephropathologists along with our own Indian stalwarts.

August in Kolkata is warm and humid with unexpected showers. You can still enjoy the various social and cultural activities in the “City of Joy” in the cultural capital of India.
